On the night of the murder, between 9:30 and 10 o'clock, about the hour at which it is supposed that the doctor arrived there in he buggy with the man who came for him, left his house to visit the grocery at the corner of Ash-land avenue and Otto street, which is only a short block south of the Carlson cottage. He walked east on Addison avenue to Ashland and then turned south on the east edge of the ditch. One of the men, whom Meries described as a tall and apparently athletic man, sprang from the buggy and ran up the front stairs of the cottage, the door of which was thrown open before he even knocked for admission. Scarcely had the loud and angry voices within the cottage startled the milk dealer. He looked searchingly at the man in the ouggy, but the strangcr's face was shrouded by the brim of a soft hat, and Merles was unable to tell whether he was stout or slender or fair or dark. The fellow whipped his horse into a gallop, drove to

A DETECTIVE IMPLICATED.

A morning paper publishes a story which implicates a member of the Chicago police force in the taking off of Dr. Cronin. The officer in question is Detective Daniel Coughlin. The story published is to the effect that on the morning of the date on which Dr. Cronin disappeared Coughlin engaged at a livery stable not far from where Dr. Cronin lived a horse and buggy which he said a friend of his would call for that evening; that the time did call and was given a white horse similar to the one attached to the buggy in which Cronin was decoyed away; that the time of going and the description of the man correspond minutely, both with the time when the man came for Dr. Cronin and with the appearance of the man himself; that Coughlin subsequently caustioned the livery stable keeper to say nothing about the matter.

seen in Chicago within the past week. The rumor cannot now be verified.

COUGHLIN UNDER SURVEILLANCE.

Detective Coughlin has not been arrested, but Chief of Police Hubbard says that, pending further investigation into his alleged connection with the man who decoyed Dr. Cronin away, he will keep Coughlin under surveillance. This afternoon a secret conference is in progress at which Mayor Cregier, States Attorney Longonecker, Chief Hubbard, Chief Detective Elliott and other officials are present. Its object has not yet been learned. The arrangements for Dr. Cronin's funeral have been completed, and the procession promises to be an imposing one.

John Devoy would not talk about the subject yesterdsy, saying he had nothing more to say. He believed that Cronin's murder was the result of a conspiracy and that the conspirators were Irishmen.

CRONIN AND THE IRISH CAUSE. Was He a Martyr or an Informer?—Is Alex ander Sullivan Concerned in It? From the Chicago News. There is an interminable confusion of opinions and theories concerning the murder of

Dr. Cronin. They interweave, interdepend, antagonize, sustain each other, at one point. At another point they disentangle, straighten out, converge suddenly and sharply upon a single point.

Dr. Cronin was murdered. That fact is established by the condition of his body. But between the time of his departure from his home and the finding of his remains there is a hiatus. Absolutely nothing is known of his movements after his doer closed behind him on that fateful evening. The story of the man with the white horse is absolutely valueless. It may be true. It may have been manufactured in order to cover up the truth. People who are investigating and discussing the problem of Cronin's death are not dealing with those things which are intimately connected with his disappearance. They are leaving that to the detectives. They are taking facts, conditions and theories prior to his disappearance. They point to the accepted fact that Dr. Cronin and his friends anticipated that he would be killed. This apprehension was induced because he had been engaged for years in a relentless pursuit of others charged with a certain offense. That offense was the misappropriation of money collected by the Irish people for the Irish cause. His endeavors were directed largely against one man. He was using every means at his command to ruin and discredit that man among his fellow-Irishmen. These a-priori facts in the midde of these friends of Cronin indicate to them what was done with him, why it was done, and the men who did it. But circumstantial evidence may be fatally misleading.

Dr. Cronin had been for years the personal misleading.

Dr. Cronin had been for years the personal and political—Irish political—enemy of Alexander Sullivan of Chicago, ex-president of the Land league. He had at one time accused Sullivan of the missappropriation of Irish funds to the amount of about $80,000. Sullivan was tried in the Clan-na-Gael for this alleged offense and acquitted. Oronin presided at that trial. The acquittal of Sullivan did not satisfy either Oronin or Sullivan. They want at each other. Cronin was forced to the wall. He was found guilty of treason to the Irish cause.

But time brought swift changes. Cronin recovered himself and railled his friends. He was reinstated in the Clan-na-Gael. The charge of treason was wiped out. He resumed his reientless pursuit of Sullivan with an ardor intensified by the bitterness of his experience. By an accident of business the the Traders' Bank of Chicago failed. It was at this bank that Mr. Sulivan did business. There was an assignment. The books fell into the hands of a balliff named Mortimer Scanian. He found, it is said, that, at or about the time Sulivan was accused of having appropriated the Irish funds, he had deposited $2,000 to his personal credit. This is Cronin's story. It smould be remembered that he was maiclous toward Sullivan. The murdered man's friends now hold out an intimation that Cronin had acquired other proofs against Sullivan. All of these proofs he had promised to submit to a meeting of the Irish National League to take place at Philadelphia in June.

A trial is now in progress in London which has for its object the coanection of Parnell intimate friends were T. T. Conklin and his good-looking wife, who are now figuring so prominently in the Chicago mystery, toward the closing up of which they have done very little, though they profess to know considerable. Mr. Conklin will be remembered by many St. Louisans as the proprietor of the Cafe Conklin, which was established on the north side of Olive street, between Sixth and Seventh streets, but which did not prove a paying investment. Dr. Cronin tablished on the north side of Unive street, bet wheen Sixth and Seventh streets, but which did not prove a paying investment. Dr. Cronin visited with the Conklins. Shortly after they decided to remove to Ohicago Dr. Cronin came to the conclusion that his professional prospects in the Lake City were brighter than in St. Louis. He followed the Conklins to Chicago and took up his residence with them on North Clark street. He has resided with the Conklins ever since. Conklin kept a saloon under the apartments occupied by the doctor.

That Dr. Cronin might have incurred the mortal hatred of some offended father, brother or husband has not been dweit upon in the calculations to solve the mystery of the murder. Yet that he was liable to err in this regard is a fact known to those who were intimately acquainted with him during his residence in this city.

who knew Cronin and who has for many years been a prominent figure in Irish affairs, was visited this morning and the theories of this remarkable case suggested. Speaking of the case and in reply to questions Dr. O'Reilly said: "Whatever I might say concerning this remarkable case is purely opinion. I know nothing of it except as I have learned from the published developments. I do not belong to any secret organization of any kind whatever, but it is absolutely preposterous to suppose that the Clanma-Gael or any organization having similar alms would resort to the helmous crime of murder such as this. Whatever injury such an organization or any enthusiastic member might wish to do, the English Government to help the Irish cause they would not resort to such a thing as this. I do not believe that this was a "political assassination," as it is called, but that it is the result of some personal private gradge. When I first met Dr. Cronin I was inclined to think that he was a young man whose acquaintance was desirable. Even after he went to Chicago I corresponded with him, but from what I learned soon after his removal I decided to drop his acquaintance. I regarded him as a friend, but I found that coming to me as a friend he attempted to involve me in a transaction in which I would have suffered a considerable loss. This he attempted to inveigle me into pretending to be a friend.

When he went to Chicago he was befriended When he went to Chicago he was befriended by the very men on whom he turned. As far as these gentlemen, against whom it is attempted to direct suspicion, are concerned, I can say that no community can boast of more upright, honorable gentlemen than these. The charges referred to, of misappropriation of funds, were made in '86 and not substantiated.' It is an easy thing to make startling charges if it is not necessary to support them with proof. The theory that murder was resorted to to prevent the repetition of these charges against men in whom I have every confidence in the world is absurd."

Some of them were severely bruised, but it was said last night that none had been fatally injured. The brunt of the storm seemed to have struck the little vessel forward of the mainmast, the bowsprit itself having been torn away when the foremast was chopped off to free the ship. After having successfully ridden out the violent gale of Tuesday the Yantic shaped her course for New York, but mained as she was, her troubles were not yet over. On Thursday a heavy gale came in from the northeast, accompanied by a high and dangerous sea. By careful seemanship, however, port was reached last night in safety. Lieut. VERY BAD LEGISLATION.

MAYOR NOONAN DOES NOT APPROVE OF THE OAK BILL BILL

How the City Loses Money Through Legis-Says About It-The House Makes a Mis--Matters Concerning the City Streets -City Hall Notes.

HE Mayor in looking over matters concerning the city happened upon some not meet at all with his stamps as a piece of very tion, injurious to the interests of the city. The matter in question is an nance granted to the St. Louis. Oak Hill & Carondelet Railway and an amendment to it passed last January. The first ordinance grants the road the usual franchise and defines the route and so on. Sec. 12 of the ordinance touching upon the revenue to the city reads as follows:

Sec. 12. The rights and privileges and franchises hereby granted to the said St. Louis, Oaknill & Carondelet Railway Co. shall continue for a term of fifty years from the passage of this ordinance, to said company, its successors or assigns, and in consideration thereof the said company and its successors and assigns agrees by the acceptance of this ordinance that it will file with the Comptroller of the city of St. Louis, on or before the lat day of February of each year, from and after the passage of this ordinance, a statement of the gross earnings of said company from transportation of freight and passengers by it, which statement shall be subscribed and sworn to by its president and secretary, and that it will pay to the Treasurer of the said city, on or before the first day of March of each year, I per cent upon said gross earnings for the first year succeeding the first of March after the road has begun to carry freight and passengers; for the second year, 2 per centum of such gross earnings; and 3 per centum of such gross earnings annually until the expiration of the term for which this ordinance is granted. Said payments shall be in addition to all general taxes now or hereafter fion of the term for which this ordinance is granted. Said payments shall be in addition to all general taxes now or hereafter prescribed by law. For any failure on the part of said company, or its successors or assigns, to file said annual statement and make the aforesaid payments on such gross earnings within sixty days after the same becomes due and payable, all the rights and privileges confirmed and granted herein to the St. Louis, Oakhill & Carondelet Railway Co., or its successors or assigns, shall be forfeited. The Municipal Assembly and the Comptroller of the city of St. Louis shall have the right at any time to examine the books and papers of the company for the purpose of ascertaining the gross earnings of the company.

This answered very well, and at the end of

This answered very well, and at the end of the year 1888 the road paid into the city $575.62 as I per cent of the gross earnings of the road.

In January an amendment to this section No. 12 was passed and signed by Mayor Allen on January 31, which, according to the returns made the first year, beat the city out of $75.62 at least. The amendment provides "In consideration of the rights and fran hises granted by said ordinance No. 13,657 chises granted by said ordinance No. 13,657, and this ordinance amendatory thereof, the St. Louis, Oak Hill & Carondelet Railway Co., its successors and assigns, shail pay into the City Treasury within sixty days after the passage of this ordinance, and on the 1st day of March of each succeeding year during the continuance of the franchise granted by said ordinance No. 13,657, and this ordinance, amendatory thereof, the sum of $500 per year for the term of ten years, and the sum of $1,000 per year further the term of ten years next succeeding, and the sum of $1,000 per year during the remaining portion of the franchise. Said payments shall be made in addition to all general taxes now or hereafter prescribed by law."

Thus it will be seen that instead of paying 2 per cent the second year and 3 during the third, and to the limit of the time the franchise runs, it only pays $500 for the first ten years, or less than 1 per cent of the first year's

The Mayor said: "This cuts off from the city a very large revenue as in the nature of things the business of the road would increase; this year the city under the old ordinance would have received at least $1,000 but now will only get $500, basing the calculations on the earnings of the first year, when the expenses are larger and the business lighter than it is likely to be at any succeed-and alley improvements in the city of St. Louis. The information shows the extent of improvements made in that direction in the last few years. The table: STREETS.

THE CITY'S FUNDS Must Be Distributed Between Several Banks

held yesterday at the City Hall between Mayor Noonan, Comp Treasurer Foerstel and Laclede Bank of this city concerning a matter of considerable importance. The city to-day has $2,200,670.63 on deposit with the cured by a bond of $500,000. This is the only bond that has been required of the bank under the city ordinances. The institution on a bid of 3.78 per cent interest secured the custody of the current funds of the city.

The bond filed contains the names of sureties good for many millions, but under the terms of the bond the bank is liable for less than one-fourth of the deposit.

For a long time the daily balances have exceeded $2,250,000, but the total responsibility of the bank on bond has not exceeded a half a million. The Municipal Assembly, which should have properly provided for the increase of the security that the bank was prepared at all times to give did not consider the subject. The General Assembly took up the matter and has disposed of it in a manner that will cost the city some money. At present the city receives about $75,000 per annum interest on its deposits, the large daily balance enabling the local banks to bid high for the funds. As high as 3.91 has been received. Under the new law the fund commissioners will not be permitted to deposit more than $500,000 with any one institution, and must receive as security bond equal to the highest deposit. The commissioners called yesterday's meeting to discuss the requirements of the new law. The present contract with the Laclede Bank will expire in October. Then five banks will be selected and bids for the custody of the city funds in sums of not more than $500,000 will be received.

As the deposit will be smaller, the rate of interest will probably decrease considerably. The bank has consented to release the city on July I, when new bids will be advertised for by the city. posits, the large daily balance enabling

TO DEMAND SHORTER HOURS.

The Garment-Cutters and Trimmers Prepar ing to Make a Demand, James Hughes of Chicago, Vice-Chairman of the Garment-Cutters and Trimmers' National District, No. 231, Knights of Labor, is in the city making preliminary arrangements for a concerted demand for nine hours' work and ten hours' pay to be made by all the members of the craft who are now working in St. Louis at ten hours a day. Mr. Hughes said to-day: "We have branches in Boston, New York, Philadelphia, Baltimore, Cincinnati, Cleveland, Rochester, Syracuse, Minneapolis, Chicago, Milwaukee and in this city. In all the other cities the members of the organization are getting ten hours' pay and nine hours work, and that is what we are going to st. 000 but now will only get $500, basing the calculations on the earnings of the first year, when the expenses are larger and the business lighter than it is likely to be at any succeeding time. It is evident on the face of it that the thing is not fair to the city, and I, for one, can not understand how the Mayor ever signed such a bill."

Comptroller Stevenson said that in his opinion the amendment knocked the city out of a very considerable amount of money and virtually gave away a very valuable franchise.

General Information,

The Street Department has just issued a very interesting table of facts and figures under the title of "General Information," showing the amount, length and character of street and alley improvements in the city of St. Louis. The information shows the extent of improvement made in this city. In all the other cities the members of the organization are getting ten hours' pay and nine the other cities the members of the organization are getting ten hours' pay and nine the other cities the members of the organization are getting ten hours' pay and nine the other cities the members of the organization are getting ten hours' pay and nine the other cities the members of the other cities the members of the organization are getting ten hours' pay and nine the other cities the members of the organization are getting ten hours' pay and nine the other cities the members of the organization are getting ten hours' pay and nine the other cities the members of the organization are getting ten hours' pay and nine the ours work, and that is what we are golng to get here if we can, as we do not think it full ours, as it gives the ten-hour houses an unfair advantage in the competition for trade. The Senate to-day passed the bill providing that bosses of coal mines shall pass an examination and secure a certificate of competency. A large number of bills were advanced to third reading. The proceedings of were of a wholly routine character. The Senate Committee this morning resumed the investigation of the charges made by the Chicago Tribune that $50,000 had been raised and the Merritt anti-trust bill. Fred B. Stevenson, the reporter who wrote the interview with Jacob Bunn of the llinois Waten Co. took the stand and swore to the correctness of the interview made in general, but could not asy that Bunn stated money had been used to influence the course of the bill or that he had contributed any for that purpose. HENRY SHAW'S FIRST TREE.

The first tree that Henry Shaw planted in Missouri soil now stands, a vigorous old elm with branches that spread out over forty feet from the massive trunk on the southwest corner of Odeli and King's highway, opposite Tower Grove Park, near the entrance to Reber place. Mr. Rutledge of the firm of Rutledge & Horton, in speaking of this old land mark, says that Mr. Shaw places great store by the grand old tree, which now measures fully three feet at the base. He told Mr. Rutledge it was the first tree that he planted and that it has been sixty years since he put the sapling in the ground. Many people have often admired the symmetrical proportions and enjoyed the bountiful shade of this gigantic elm, and more interest will be taken in it than ever, since the origin of its growth, with this publication of its relation to Henry Shaw, will be much appreciated by the readers of the Post-Dispatch. Not long ago Mr. Shaw expressed a fear that some day the city would cut it out of the way, and Dr. Wm. Porter, hearing what Mr. Shaw said, declared that the tree ought to be preserved as long as it would stand and that he intended to call Mayor Noonan's attention to the importance of building an iron fence around it to protect the trunk from injury.

That eligible building site rising several feet above the pavement at the northwest corner of Olive and Beaumont, which up to the present time has remained vacant, has been sold to Dr. Jacob Geiger, an eminent physician who has become distinguished in his profession at St. Joe, Mo., but who is coming to this city to make his home and practice his chosen calling. The property belouged to the Craemer heirs, for whom it will be remembered the ground, including the dwelling to the west of it, was sold in partition about two yearsago, the heirs themselves being the successful bidders.

this world has a plenty and to spare. The that the residents of the great city, accusworld, could be so easily victimized? And that, too, by the simplest of "skin" games. Yet they are—yes, they were. Detective Burke of the city force can tell a funny story which is right to the point. On last Thursday the millers of this city gave a grand excursion and picnic, the steamer Grand Republic carrying an immense crowd to Montesano Springs. Detectives Burke, Lawler and Fitzpatrick were detailed from headquarters to accompany the party as a precautianary measure and a prote against pickpockets and sneak thieves. All went well on the down trip, and dur-ing the whole day's merriment on the grounds nothing occurred which would necessitate that the officers reveal their identity. The pilgrimag continued for some time before their suspicions were aroused and then they determined to investigate. All these people wer not interested in seeing the springs nor in drinking of its waters. They were anxious to be gulled, and a gang of perhaps a dozen con their desires. Three games of the "shell racket" were in progress and the millers were getting the worst of the game, too.

racket'' were in progress and the millers were getting the worst of the game, too. The "shell racket" or "throwing the shells" is a "skin" game operated on exactly the same principle as the three card monte game. It is, in fact, the seductive monte game clothed in a less conspicuous dress. The operator, with a pea, three English walnut half shells and a smooth surface upon which to work, is prepared and the rest is but slight of hand. He places the pea under one of the shells, moves it rapidly from one to another, and then invites the "sucker" to locate the pea, offering him odds of two to one that his eye has been deceived. And that optic has been fooled for in nine cases out of ten the pea is concealed under the long finger nail of the operator to be placed beneath a shell after the player has made his bet and lost his money. The game is a dead swindle, the "sucker" being led into the game by the success of the "capper" or accomplice who makes a play and whis a stake the first bet.

THE GANG

Loomis sang in a deep barso-profando, while Williams pitched in a high key and imitated a circus calliope with telling effect. The dance was rendered in rounds of three misutes each and the shell men insisted on throwing up the sponge at the first blow, but the small boy demanded his money's worth, while Burke shouted: "On with the dance!" Lawler, Burke and Fitzpatrick reported at headquarters the next morning and insisted that they had strained the muscles of their arms in pulling a rowboat against the current. The shell men have failed to put in an appearance or send a report.

Judge Thayer Decides a Question Involving a Very Important Patent.

The N. O. Nelson Manufacturing Co. gained a victory this morning in the United States Circuit Court through a decision rendered by Judge Amos M. Thayer. It was in the in fringement sult of Henry Huber and James E. Boyle against the company named, who are manufacturing a closets and tanks called the "Syphonia." The closets in question are those with tanks overhead and chain attachments. April 7, 1874, Wm. Donafid and Stewart Peters of Glasgow, Scotland, secured patents from the Government of Great Britain on patent water closets, the privilege to extend fourteen years, and at the expiration of each seven years they were to pay £100 stamp duty. They failed to pay its and the letters patent became null and void. James E. Boyle went to England, bought the rights from Peters & Donald for £30 and secured letters patent in this country numbered £60, 252 and 10, 252 June £7, 1882, and April 19, 1887. Since then the N. O. Nelson Manufacturing Co. have been making and seiling the closets with many improvements. Boyle sold his interest to Henry Huber and suit was brought. Benjamin F. Bex and Taylor & Pollard defended the case on section 4887 of the United States Eevised Statutes, which, in substance, provides that every patent granted in a foreign country can be patented here, but is shall be so limited as to expire at the same time. As the patent was forfeited in England by the failure to pay £100 there could be no infringement. The court decided in favor of the defendant after making a lengthy research of British and American patent law. James E. Boyle against the com-

of Directors would come under this head and that the signers would make themselves criminally liable by entering into any such agreement. As no letter was received his explorations proved to be resultless.

On the floor of the Merchants' Exchange a petition was circulated by W. T. Anderson which received the signature of nearly every member to whom it was presented. It was in favor of the firm of Puff & Helm, both members of which had been suppended for one week. As stated in yesterday's Post-Disparch, the Board of Directors had decided that the penalty pended for one week. As stated in yesterday's Posr-Disparch, the Board of Directors had decided that the penalty might be divided, one member of the firm remaining absent from the floor for one week, and the other being excluded during the following week. The petition of Mr. Anderson was to the effect that both members be reinstated at the same time, and the double penalty thus remitted.

BUSY BUCKETSHOPS AND AN IDLE EXCHANGE. The floor of the bucketshop was remarkably active, and the members who had temporarily changed their sphere of activity said that they had no reason to complain of their decision. Their orders came in as usual, and in addition to this they received many from the floor of the Exchange, which the original recipients would have filled themselves under ordinary circumstances. Some talked about organizing an open board, similar to that of Chicago, but the separation idea was entertained seriously by very few, and these the smallest traders on 'Change. A report was for some time current that the decision in the Albers' appeal covered the case of the traders suspended on Monday, but this was soon proved to be without foundation. The idea of a permanent secession is not seriously entertained, and the simost unanimous opinion was that on Tuesday morning the habitues of the bucket-shops would return to the floor. The only question that is likely to come up and which can change this determination is that in relation to the suspension of Puff & Helm. Not a few of the traders declare that they will not return to the floor until all the members suspended are reinstated. This does not apply to Jesse Fraley, who never was a member. The question of the readmission of Puff & Helm will be considered at the regular meeting of the directors on Monday, and the general impression is that both members of the firm will be reinstated.

by some fiend who had a purpose to serve, either robbery or revenge. Whoever he may be he will certainly be brought to justice if money and detectives can do anything. The company has sent a whole force of private detectives to Sullivan and the country about the village is flooded with them. It is doubtful, however, whether justice will ever be satisfied, for even if they catch the fellow it may not be easy to prove his guilt. The indications are that not more than one or at least two men were implicated in the crime, and if they do not give themselves away there is not much chance of eatching them. None of the neighbors have reported seeing any suspicious characters in the neighborhood, and if one had been seen near the curve before the accident occurred there would be nothing more than a circumstantial case against him.

ALYNCHING AT SULLIVAN.

Sullivan contains some very hard characters. The farmers in the neighborhood are quiet, steady people and the villagers themselves are worthy, law-abiding citizens, but they are burdened with an element of tough characters who have more than once given trouble. About two years ago an incendiary set fire to a house in which a family was sleeping. The house was destroyed and the family burned to death. It was such a heinous crime the people were outraged and they secoured the whole country and captured the criminal. The Sheriff took charge of him and put him in jail and that night an assemblage, not a mob, of reputable citizens took him from the jail, and when sun rose in the morning he was found hanging to a tree. This lesson, however, seems to have been lost on the hard characters about the neighborhood, but this is the first lawless act of which they have been guilty since that eventful night.

"The action of the city authorities in rela-Louis have been working badly all morning and the news they brought is meager. There is really nothing of importance to be added to the story told in the POST-DISPATCH of yesterday, the details were so fully given.

The officers of the company deny the statement that has been made that a gang of track repairers had been at work there and had probably left without replacing the spikes. No repairers had been at work on the curve and none of the railroad men had drawn the spikes. The track was in good repair, and even if trackmen had been working on it, it is a moral certainty that the spikes were drawn by some flend who had a purpose to serve, either robbery or revenge. "A more serious objection is the clause confining building materials to brick and red granite. I do not object to prescribing that the metal cornicing shall be of either copper or iron, although a metal cornice on a brick or stone building is an architectural abomination. But why should sandstone, limestone and marble be placed under a ban? All are good materials and possibly would be better than any others. To the uninitiated this might have the appearance of a job. A still more serious fault is the selection of a New York and an Illinois expert to pass upon the plans sub-MATERIALS EXCLUDED. fault is the selection of a New York and an lilinois expert to pass upon the plans submitted. Surely we are not so poor in local talent as to be obliged to go abroad for assistance and our architects know the needs of the city better than anyone else can. EX.GOV. GILPIN'S SISTER.

The Eccentric Old Lady Who Died Shanty at Galveston.

By Telegraph to the POST-DISPATCH. WILMINGTON, Del., May 25.-The people this city are much interested in the press dispatches from Galveston published Thursday morning announcing the death in a shanty in that city of the wife of ex-Gov. Gilpin of Colorado. The dispatch was incorrect, as the dead woman was not Mrs. Gilpin, but Miss Mary Sophia Gilpin, a sister of ex-Gov. Gilpin. She was 80 years old, a native of this city and of an extremely eccentric disposition. She often announced in the latter part of her life that she would leave the bulk of her fortune, consisting of real estate in this city and in Washington Territory, estimated to be worth $200,000, to found a school for girls in Wilmington. What the people here want to know is whether she made a will carrying out her intention. Miss Gilpin in early life was a teacher in Eastern schools. Then for ten years she lived in Russia as a teacher in the fumily of a wealthy Russian nobleman. Her home for twenty-five years had been in Denver, where she became noted because of a long and bitter warfare she carried on with her brother, the ex-Governor, who, she said, tried to get her in an insane asyium. She had a sister living in Hartford and a brother, Richard Gilpin, a well-known Philadelphia lawyer, who died about a year ago. She was 80 years old, a native of this city and

THE HAYTIEN MINISTER'S LETTER TO THE SECRETARY OF STATE.

The Hippolyte Movement in Hayti Con-trolled by Speculative Influences in New York City - A Deplorable Incident. Recognition of Legitime's Government by European Powers-The Proposed y Telegraph to the POST-DISPATO

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 25 .- It is, perhaps, of interest to know that Legitime' overnment in Hayti has been recognized by the following Governments: England, France Russia, Spain, Beigium and the Netherlands, far as the alleged offers of territorial cessions by Hayti to France or Germany are concerned, the first article of the Haytien Constitution

"The Haytien territory and the adjacent islands depending thereon cannot be alien ated by treaty or convention."

The same provision exists in the constitu-tion of San Domingo. Hayti and San Dymingo are bound by treaty with each other not to alienate any part of the territory of either without the consent of the other.

The following dispatch from Mr. Preston, the Haytien Minister, to Secretary Bayard and attributes, it will be seen, the continuance of the movement of Hippolyte to speculative influence in New York.

"There are upon some points of the Haytien territory certain individuals pretending by whom or in virtue of what constitution others ministers and others still as counoffice is unknown to the constitution of Hayti. There exists, in fact, in Hayti one sole Government exercising by just title the functions which is the regular repres .tative of the country, and it is estab' d by virtue of a constitution. It has the apport of the majority of the representatives elected; it has the support of the national judicial power; it is in relation with the foreign powers; it is the power, and the sole power, bound to the United States by a screening occupies the capital of the councillon and holds in its hands United States by a solemn treaty. Lastly, it try, and holds in its hands the main springs of the administration.

What, on the other hand, are the individuals of whom the note of the Secretary of State speaks? They are simply secessionists in quest of a foreign protectorate and the learned Secretary of State is not unaware of the opinion of the United States regarding those sessionists who, a quarter of a century ago, did not hesitate to take up arms for the purpose of withdrawing from the National Gov-ernment. The organization of which the learned Secretary of State speaks is evidently

"It has not its origin in free suffrage, it is one of numerous and depiorable incidents, which have so often taken place during the last eighty years in a number of States of Central and South America. Why, the undersigned asked himself, however, why, for sometime the past, so up.

of them except in rare instances, and when certain well defined facts have been presented. Why, the undersigned asked himself, however, why, for sometime the past, so unusual a movement has occurred in the United States in regard to the insurrection which has broken out in a part of the Republic of Hayti? If it be compared with those recorded in the annals of the Island it is far from presenting the importance of certain revoits which everyone familiar with the history of the Antilles could immediately name, and yet the press is filled with the most audaciously false news of the event occurring in Hayti, and on the other hand preparations, in violation of the laws of American neutrality, appear to be in progress at this very moment upon the territory of the United States. What then is the cause of this movement, so unacoustomed and so difficult to comprehend?

"The undersigned will briefly state it here in: A little band of revolted Haytiens and a small number of American speculators, who are vainly endeavoring to conceal their names behind persons of light weight and whose schemes are, besides, perfectly known, are attempting to profit by the agitation in order to make money. To this speculation, founded in part on the published false news and excited by eventual financial projects, is due the persistency of the Haytien insurrectionists, whose real headquarters are at New York. This is the cause of the evil and that is its seat."

The accommodations for the admiral on the Boston are much better than those he occupied on the Galena. He will take the starboard part of the domies cabin and Capt. Kane will take the port side. There will be no trouble in accommodating the commissioners to Hayti should they go down in the Boston. There is enough room on the transoms to accommodate six or eight people comfortably in the cabin. Besides, should the ship be crowded, there would be ringed to accommodate the entire party. The Boston can be ready for sea inside of the next three days. Her powder and other stores are already on board and the matter of coaling the vessel is only a question of a few days. News was received last night from Boston that Mr. Alex Porter Morse of this city was to be one of the three commissioners whom Secretary Blaine is to send to Hayti on the Boston. Mr. Morse himself said that he had heard nothing whatever of the matter.

"I am acquainted," said he, "with Secretary Blaine, Mr. Walker Blaine and Assistant Secretary Wharton, but I have not been at the State Department lately, and have had no conversation with either of them. I have not especially followed the present situation."

In answer to a query as to whether it might be considered by other powers a hostile act for the United States to send a commission to Hayti, he said he preferred not to give a definite reply, but cited the case of Mr. Blaine, who went to Austria during the Austro-Hungarian difficulties as a special commissioner from this country. The other governments, he said, made several sharp inquiries as to the mission of this gentleman, which were finally satisfactorily answered. It is not improbable that the suggestion of Mr. Morse's appointment emanates from some official who knows his fitness for the place. He is a lawyer well versed in international law. He was recently arbitrator in a case brought by the heirs of Mr. Von Bokkelan against the Haytlen Government. Mr. Von Bokkelan, a citizen of New York, was imprisoned at Port-au-Prince and died soon after his release. Mr. Morse decided that the Haytlen Government should, inside of a year, pay the heirs an indemnity of $60,000.

All over this was to be paid on the common stock, which the parties represented by Hollins & Co. were given the privilege of issuing in such amounts as suited them, this being their profit in the transaction. The contract with the Laclede Gas-light Co. was the same, except that the price paid for the stock was $140.

News has been received from New York that a large amount of stock and bonds have been sold for cash on terms much more favorable than those granted the $1. Louis stockholders. Several transfers have been made at the following rates: For $10,000 cash a purchaser receives bonds at par, 25 per cent of his purchase in preferred stock and 75 per cent in common stock. In other words, a cash purchaser in New York gets all that a St. Louis stockholder did and $75 in common stock additional for every $100 in vested. The amount of common stock to be issued is entirely dependent upon the will of the purchasing syndicate, and has not yet been officially announced. It is generally believed, however, that the issue will be $20,000,000. The New York purchasers, it will be seen, receive a bonus of 75 per cent of their investment in common stock, the $8t. JAMES CAMPBELL NOT DISSATISFIED. A call was made upon James Campbell to ascertaininis feelings on the subject. He said: "I was, I believe, the largest individual holder of Gas Trust certificates, and would have as much reason as any one to be dissatisfied. I do not know whether the reported sales in New York are accurately stated, but have no reason to disbelieve them. Supposing them to be true, I see no reason for being dissatisfied with the bargain I made. I will say now that I have no common stock, was offered none, and none has been promised to me. I sold absolutely on the terms proposed, took bonds absolutely on the terms proposed, took bonds and preferred stock, and thought that I was doing very well. People who complain lose sight of several facts. The Laclede sale was made before negotiations for the Gas Trust were inaugurated. Before the sale trust certificates were selling at $51 and at $52. Our officers obtained for us $57.50, which was doing remarkably well. It was understood both by the Laclede and the Gas Trust that the purchasing syndicate, who stood ready to pay $10,000,000, were to have the privilege of issuing common stock in such amounts as suited them. This was in payment for their risk and trouble, and although it may seem excessive, was not actually so, as without the intervention of was in payment for their risk and trouble, and although it may seem excessive, was not actually so, as without the intervention of some outside party it would have been impossible to have consolidated the warring interests, and destructive competition would have followed. What the capitalists represented by Hollins & Co. do with their common stock is no one's business but their own. I do not see that anyone has any reason to complain, as we all made more by the consolidation than we could possibly have done otherwise."

Other stockholders expressed the same views, and it was evident that by no means all were dissatisfied with the turn affairs had taken.

Is a NECESSITY. Best gained by using PAINE'S CELERY COMPOUND. This medicine purifies and enriches the blood as nothing else can. Strong nerves, hearty appetite, sound sleep, perfect digestion, and mental vigor follow its use. Unequaled as a Spring Medicine and health restorer.

PAINE'S CELERY COMPOUND rests its claims upon hundreds of letters like the following, from editors, doctors, authors, ministers, merchants and other well-known people.

Good Appetite. "I am in my sixty-fourth year. Have been afflicted in several ways—could not sleep, had no appetite, no courage, low spirits. I commenced using Paine's Celery Compound, and felt relief from the third day after using it. I now have a good appetite and can sleep well. My spirits and courage are almost like those of a young man."

unraveling of the mystery. THE policeman who pretends not to see the "gang" breaking the law and runs in the small boy who is looking on from a door-step, is a fair representative of the law which, making a mere feint of attacking gigantic combinations of capital, strikes its real blows at the right of individuals to enter into voluntary and unincorporated associations such as trade unions or co-operative business organizations. A law to fine and imprison two or three village shoemakers for entering into an agreement to charge not less than 75 cents a shoe for half-soling is some thing new under the sun, something the people have not demanded or expected from any legislature.

As LONG as one corporation can buy from or sell to another, they can both consolidate under the charter of either. and a law against trusts and pools will not prevent them from accomplishing by consolidation all they could accomplish by going into a pool or trust. Would it not render individuals incapable of doing business on advantageous terms, and force them to unite their business plants and properties PATCH. ELECTORAL REFORM IN CONGRESS. The talk of Republicans about legislation to place the elections for Congressmen and presidential electors under the control of Federal officials need not cause any alarm. The power of Congress over any alarm. The power of Congress over elections is limited, the Supreme Court petes with Mr. Blaine's lead. can be trusted to void any statute exceeding the just and necessary powers delegated to Congress, and there can be no valid objection to the exercise of every legitimate power of Congress in behalf of electoral reform.

The State election laws, North and South, are generally conceded to be defective. The whole country is eager for genuine electoral reform that will secure free ballot and a fair count everywhere -in Pennsylvania and New York as well as in Mississippi and Louisiana. If the State Legislatures vote down reform bills as the Republican Legislature of Pennsylvania has done, or the State Governors veto them as Gov. HILL has done, any constitutional assistance which Congress can contribute to the attainment of the great object will be gratefully accepted.

But the hope of any valuable contribution to this object from a Republican Congress is clouded by doubts as to the power of Congress, by recollections of the mischievous effect of former Republican sustained, not only will the cases fall efforts to place Southern elections under through, but the city will have suffered Federal control, and by the declaration from two wrongs, in that it will be shown that the Republican leaders will again that men were made voters fraudulently aim to control elections in the South only. But they had to go abroad to have her built, and they not only have to sail her under a foreign flag, but under a registry which entitles the British Government to arm her as a war vessel and send her against us in case of war. A proper reform of our tariff and our antiquated navigation laws would enable us to become the greatest ship builders and ocean carriers in the world. We would then need no subsidies to extend our commerce to every clime. No subsidies can enable it to pass the barriers by which it is confined, so long as our own laws deprive us of a proper share in the carrying trade and make us dependent on foreign vessels for a chance to trade with foreign countries.

THE ORDER WAS IN EFFECT receive flowers in the school hall on graduation day, during the progress of the exercises. This was fully explained a rule so that all should be on an equal foot some of the girls who might be so unfortu been learned from experience that on gradua tities of flowers, and some do not receive any feel in consequence a little humiliated. Be side this the constant interruptions inciden to floral presentations and the acknowledge to floral presentations and the acknowledgement of the same are not conducive to an easy running course of exercises; for these and other reasons nearly as weighty and logical was the rule made by the wise directers of the High School affairs. Following upon the order was a recommendation which had nothing in the nature of an order about it. It was merely a mildly advanced suggestion couched in the softest terms imaginable. The girls were asked to the more simple the better. That was all. The idea was to obtain uniformity and to give the poorer girls who could not afford to expend much money for their dresses a chance to present an appearance something in keeping with their classmates.

Louis F. Soldan, Principal of the High School, explained this also, telling the girls in his kindly way why this was thus and adding that if any of the young ladies had already prepared their gowns for the occasion it was out of the bounds of reason to expect them to make any change. He further stated that they could if they wished to disregard the request or recommendation entirely, but that it would please him and the kind. were mad because theirs would be different from the rest of the class and would 'look funny;' those who did not have theirs begun had them all planned and designed in their minds and did not like to go back on their pet ideas. The general sentiment was: "Why can't people attend to their own business and let us attend to ours?"

The same conclusion was arrived at in the matter of receiving flowers. Many of the girls knew that they would be sure to get loads and loads of floral offerings, and here was a chance to display their popularity gone with no rhyme nor reason for it.

Mr. Soldan was asked by a Post-Disparch reperter if there had been any general uprising among his young ladies or any talk of DYNAMITE OR LYNCHING.

He said "no," but that the order, because it was an order, had displeased the girls a little, but that they had not become very violent on the subject. He said: "I will enforce the rule about receiving flowers and will not allow any of the girls to receive them during the exercises. You can just notify everybody who contemplates anything of the kind of this fact and it may save them a little trouble and discomfort. As to the dress matter, why, that doesn't amount to anything. It may disarrange their plans a little, but you understand how girls are on the subject of dress. They have their own ideas and don't relish suggestions, especially when they come from men who are not supposed to know much about dressing."

Some of the Young Ladies were called from their recitations by Mr.
Soldan and questioned about the matter, but they all said that there had been no very serious trouble over the matter. Of course serious trouble over the matter. Of course some of the girls were mad about in, but that would not last, "Was there any talk of a strike?" was 'No,' replied the young ladies.

'Was there any indignation meeting?'
'No; the girls just talked about it.'',
'Is there any danger of the girls refusing to graduate unless they can have their own

"Oh no, they all want to graduate."
After further questioning the young ladies admitted that there was a flurry of indignation but that it had all quieted down and that the prospects for a model commencement were good.

SCHOOL NEWS.

Complaints About Teachers Selling Station ery-A Groundless Charge Complaints have been made about teache selling foolscap paper to the pupils instead of allowing the children to purchase what paper they need from stationery stores in the vicin ity of the various schools. One complainant who is doubtless an aggrieved storekeeper makes the allegation that teachers sell the stationery in the schoolroom during school houre, thereby causing the loss of considerable time to the pupils. He says he binax the teachers and principals get enough salary without taking away an honest storekeeper's living. Often, he asserts, when the teachers run out of foolscap they rush one of their scholars down to some wholesale store to procure it, thereby depriving the scholar of an hour or more of study and "making a few extra dollars themselves." Inquiry in regard to these assertions brought out that, except it was a fact that teachers do sell paper to the children, the allegations were unfounded. The paper is purchased generally by the principal of the school in such a large quantity that it is secured at for the scholar's benefit, and not for any pecuniary gain. If it were so that any of them were making anything out of the selling of the paper it would have been found out, they say, by the board long ago, but it is ridiculous, they assert, to think that any principal would be so foolish as to endancer a $10-a-day position simply to gain a small sum of money in a year.

ANOTHER COMPLAINT.

The report has been spread that the patrons of the Webster School are complaining that many pupils are being discouraged in their studies at that school by being denied promotion, to which it is claimed they are justly entitled. It is claimed that a number of scholars at the Webster have been sent by their parents to private schools on this account. At the Superintendent's office these allegations were denied. The records showed that there had been no more scholars dropped at the Webster School recently, in proportion, of course, than there had been in any other school in the city. The promotions, however, had been just as numerous there as at any other school. A teacher's record depended, it was said, on the advancement of scholars under her charge and, consequently, it was foolish to hold that scholars entitled to promotion were held back. The Webster School is one of the best graded, if not the best in the city, and a child who gets in advance of his or her class can go up higher almost at any period of the year.

two days Lieut. Watkins has been Station to get along as best it could without him. This caused an endless amount of talk in army circles, and all inquiring why after demoralizing the office, leaves it and turns his attention to speckled bass. Besides, Lieut. Watkins has the blackboards under his charge, and during his absence that work has to be done by Mr Gray. Lieut. Watkins got his fishing together Thursday afternoon and then called

Mr. Gray into his room and said: "Mr. Gray, you see those hooks and lines?"

"Yes, sir," said Mr. Gray.
"Well," said the Lieutenant, "I am going fishing, by George. I can't stand this thing any longer. The newspapers have written up my affair with Sergt. Weber so extensively that, by George, I have become a famous man and everywhere I go people stop me and want to speak to me. Why, a hundred years from now there will be people who will brag that they shook hands with me just as they do about George Washington now. I can't stand it, by George, and I am going away for a little recreation. Now, you know, Mr. Gray, I prepare the blackboards on the Exchanges, do you think you could do that while I am gone?

"Well, I'll go, but my mind will not be easy until I return, Gray. If you make any mistakes, Gray, I'll get angry and, by George, every time I get angry I lose my temper."

Then the Lieutenant left and he has not been heard from since. If anything should nappen to Lieut. Watkins the Government would lose a valuable officer. Probably It is somewhat incorrect to say a valuable officer, but certainly a cautious one, and nothing more clearly demonstrates how very cautious the Lieutenant is than a remark he made at the time that a possible war between General Secretary will conduct a Bible class. AGAINST THE EXCHANGE

C. H. ALBERS SECURES A PERMANENT IN-JUNCTION IN THE CIRCUIT COURT.

Klein Decides That the Merchant Exchange May Fine a Member for Violating the Smoking Rule but Cannot Judge Klein handed down his decision to in the case of Claus H. Albers, who enending him from membership. He was fined e for smoking during 'Change hours, and then suspended for refusing to pay the fine. Claiming the Exchange had no power to impose the fine, he went into the courts and through his attorneys, Messrs. Lodge and Talty, and J. S. Laurie procured a temporary injunction against that body. Messrs. Hough, Overall and Judson, attorneys for the Ex-Klein in his decision to-day makes the injunc that the Exchange has no power to endeavor to collect a fine by suspending a member, but says it has the power to discipline a member or smoking.

The style of the case in Claus H. Albers, plaintiff, vs. the Merchants' Exchange and its Board of Directors. In reviewing the case the oin the defendant from depriving the plaintif

Board of Directors. In reviewing the case the court says: "This is a suit in equity to enjoin the defendant from depriving the plaintiff of his rights and privileges as a member of the Exchange, and to restore him to the same. The defendant, the Merchants' Exchange of St. Louis, is a corporation and plaintiff is a member thereof. By section 2 of the act of incorporation it is provided that "The rules, regulations andiby-laws of the said association shall be the rules, regulations and by-laws of the corporation hereby created until the same shall be regularly repealed or altered in the mode therein provided * and the Board of Directors of said association shall have power to suspend or expel any member of said Exchange for misconduct or any violation of any of the rules or regulations or by-laws or for other causes specified in said rules."

The Court then goes on to give the rules, regulations and by-laws of the Exchange froms for meetings of members and says the directors shall have power to enforce such rules and regulations as seem proper over them, providing that from 11 a. m. to l. p. m. daily, they shall be used for the general meeting for the transaction of business. Section 9 of the same rule makes it the duty of the directors to investigate charges of misconduct against members, and gives them the power when such members are found guilty to fine, sailend of the exchange. Rule 11 gives the directors to investigate charges of misconduct against members, and gives them the power when such members are found guilty to fine, sailend of expel members, but no party is to be disciplined without having an opportunity of being heard in his defense. Rule 5, section 1, empowers the Secretary to collect assessments, fines, fees and all moneys due the Exchange. Rule 11 gives the directors power to prescribe the hours for the faily meetings of the call board. Rule 16 provides that a two-thirds voice of she Exchange or additions to the rules. Article 8 of the by-laws reads: "Smoking in the Exchange room between the hou to that time was the rule. There was no afternoen session and smoking was prohibited between the hours of il a. m. and 1:15 p. m.

The plaintiff contending that the board of directors had no lawful right to extend the time within which, under article 8 of the bylaws, smoking was prohibited, openly and intentionally smoked between the hours of 1 and 1:15 p. m. on October 15 and 16 while the regular session was going on. He was reported, tried and fined $50 and ordered to pay the fine within five days. This he refused to do and was suspended until he should. On November 20, 1888, he was granted a temporary injunction by the courts to prevent his suspension and a motion was filed to dissolve the injunction. Says Judge Klein in his opinion: 'The first question is, Had the Board of Directors authority to adopt the regulations of September 20, 1889? This question is fully answered in the affirmative by rule 4, sec. 8, of the Rules and Regulations of the Exchange. By that section the directors are given the control over the rooms of the Exchange, and are authorized to establish and enforce such rules and regulations in regard to the use of the same as may seem proper. The provise therein that from 11 a. m. to 1 p. m. daily the rooms shall be set apart and applied for the general meeting for the transaction of business, does not deprive the board of regulations in the rooms either during said time or before or after that time. Rule XVI, which provides how the rules, regulations and by-laws may be amended or rescinded and how new rules may be made, has no application to this matter. The control of the rooms has been specially delegated to the Board of Directors. It is evident this is a reasonable and proper provision.' The Court holds that a regulation prohibiting smoking during the time when the general meeting for the ransaction of business is passonable and proper. Although by-law vill. forbids smoking between the hours of ll. a m. and l p. m., the Board of Directors nevertheless have express authority over the remai and unlawful. He makes the injunction perpetual.

F. N. JUDSON
of Hough, Overail & Judson, attorneys for the Merchants' Exchange, speaking of the case this morning, said: "The decision is practically in favor of the Exchange. That is the main question as to their power to discipline members by fining, suspending or expelling them, is decided in their favor. He holds that they have such power, but he holds that they did wrong in suspending Mr. Albers after fining him. If they had suspended him in the first place it would have been all right, but they could not fine him first and then endeavor to collect the fine by suspending him. I think the exchange will appeal the case to get an opinion on how they can amend their rules so as to collect these fines."

Thomas Quinn, an old and respected citize of this city, through his attorneys, Peabody & Bently, filed a petition to-day asking to be ed from his wife, Sarah Quinn. Mr. quinn is the father of Thomas Quinn, member of the House of Delegates and John Quinn the contractor. He has been marged twice and now wishes to be separated from his second wife. He charges her with habitual drunkenness, indignities and making his life intelereble. Information was furnished by a young man who claimed to be a friend of the Steinman family, but Coronor Frank has investigated the complaint, and finds that the charges were unfounded. Mrs. Henry Steinman, when spoken to in regard to the matter insisted that Mr. Schawacker had treated her as he should, and Mr. Fred Steinman, a younger brother of the deceased contractor, repudiated the idea that he had originated or circulated statements blaming Schawacker. The conversation alluded to took place in the morgue and Supt. Praedicow says the undertaker treated Mrs. Steinman with more than ordinary consideration.

Warrants Issued for Two Men Who Left th Disappeared-The Little Ones Found

On a warrant sworn out by Mrs. Elizabeth hepard, living at 219 South Broadway, Officer Alexander arrested Wm. C. McCormack and Allen P. Stires, charging them with kidnapping. The men were arrested at Sixth street and Clark avenue, and upon being locked up at the Gentral District Station gave their names as above and their ages as 49 and 34 years respectively. Both are carpenters and have been rooming with Mrs. Shepard at her home, 219 South Broadway. According to her statement, about 9 a. m. she started out with an older child to see a doctor, leaving the two younger children, a girl of 5½ years and a boy of 2½, in the house with McCormack and Stires. When she returned the little ones were gone immediately notified the police of the affair and the arrest was made as stated. The men deny any complicity in the matter and assume an air of defiance. Mrs. Shepard tells a pitiful story. She has several times been separated from her husband, Will-iam Shepard, and at present proceedings for a divorce are pending

A GREAT CHEMIST'S RETIREMENT. The Learning and the Cheerful Humanity of

Prof. Bunsen of Heidelberg. the New York Sun. The Grand Duke of Baden has just placed the name of Robert Wilhelm Bunsen, the great chemist, on the retired list of Heidelberg pro close stona the sessors. This act closes the active career of the most famous living German savant.

Prof. Bunsen is popularly known as the inventor of the Bunsen battery, which is generally used in telegraphy, and the Bunsen gas burner, and as the discoverer of the magnesium light, the spectrum analysis, and a sure antidote to arsenical poison. For more than fifty-five years he has been celebrated among the chemists of the world for the laborious-analysis and success of his researches in the least familiar departments of chemistry.

In 1837 he began a series of investigations of Cadet's fuming arsenical liquid, and eventually he brought out some very inflammable compounds. Experiments with these compounds exposed him to dangers from which scientific men working in their studies or laboratories are generally supposed to be free. In speaking of these perilous experiments Prof. Roscoe in his "Nature" says: "Bunsen, forty years ago, was a traveler in an unknown and treacherous land, without sign posts to guide him." Bunsen was not to be intimidated, however, by the warnings of his fellow chemists. He was as brave in the laboratory as he had been upon the student's field of honor at dottingen. The expected catastrophe came late one afternoon while Runsen was alone in his workshop. The explosion of a tube shook the laboratory. Bunsen was found burned and unconscious on the floor. He lay between life and death for many weeks and then began to fils left eye, which was torn in the explosion of a tube shook the ements of a hero among German men of science, and gave him a great name for courage among the Heidelberg students. fessors. of his left eye, which was torn in the explosion. This adventure made Bunsen something of a hero among German men of science, and gave him a great name for courage among the Heidelberg students.

In 1846 Bunsen led a party of geologists through Iceland. He was then professor in Marburg University. In 1851 he became professor in chemistry at Breslau, and one year later went to Heidelberg, where he has remained aimost uninterruptedly ever since. In 1881 he celebrated the fiftieth, anniversary of his transformation from a Herr student into a Herr doctor at Gottingen. The Grand Duke of Baden made him a first-class Gehelmrath (Privy Councilor), a title greatly prized by German professors, although in Baden insanity and sudden death are proverbially a professor's only means of escape from it. A Gehelmrath of the first class has two privileges—he can allow himself to be called "Excellency," and can call upon the Grand Duke unannounced. As Bunsen had little in common with the Grand Duke and had a greater reputation than a hundred Dukes, with their "Excellencies," could give him, he laid his new title on the shelf, and it has stayed there.

After the castle, Bunsen has been Heidelberg's greatest lion for many years. Every one points him out to strangers when he appears on the promemade, and men who have seen him almost daily for years stop in the street to watch him. He is a tail, bony, broad-shouldered man of nearly 80 years. His keen, rugged face is fringed with grizzied gray Horace is fringed with grizzied gray Horace for his heals and always has been an inveterate smoker, and losaves his cigar stubs anywhere or on anything. Chemical students in Heidelberg students who have been in his laboratory have carried away Bunsen's cigar stubs as mementoes of the eccentric old man.

Age of Parents and Vitality of Children. From the Revue Scientifique. Mr. J. Korosi, Director of the Hungarian Bureau of Statistics, recently read a memoir before the Hungarian Academy of Science upon the "Influence of the Age of Parents upon the Vitality of Children," and in which, taking 24,000 cases as a basis, he reached the following conclusions:

Children whose father is less than 20 years of age have a weak constitution. The issue of fathers of between 25 and 40 years are the strongest, while the descendants of fathers of over 40 years are weak. The healthless children are those whose mother has not yet reached 25 years. Those born of mothers of between 35 and 40 years of age are 8 per cent weaker and those of mothers of over 40 are 10 per cent weaker. The children of aged fathers and younger mothers have, as a general thing, a strong constitution; but if the parents are of the same age the children are less robust. upon the "Influence of the Age of Parents

BOCKEFELLER'S WEALTH.

NOROMIS, Ill., May 24 .- A heavy rain story section of the country last night, doing much damage. Near Irving, in this, Montgomery county, a large barn owned by Mr. T. Gregory was struck by lightning and caught fire, being entirely consumed by the flames. Several valuable horses were killed in this vicinity.

> NOTHING LIKE IT. M'NICHOLS' FOLDING BED.

Country cousins come to visit
In the city in the spring,
Just when field and flower, exquisite,
Make us long for blue-birds' wing.
Yet we made them welcome truly;
Gave a dinner—royal spread;
Then a room we'd furnished newly
Put them in—with folding bed. Time flow by; their prayers recited, Meg and Tom at last retired. Mog and Tom at last retired.

Soon in accents with—excited,

Words like these down-stairs were fired:

"Katy, 10kc, our bed—pienes show it;

Nota sign we see of any."

Then said Tom to Meg. ""And, blow it,

They've none here, 1'll beta penny." Kate rushed up, I followed after; Both stood near the splendid buffet; And we shouted all with laughter. On the floor Tom said he'd rough it. Here, then, seemed to be a pickle— Till that buffet turned around, Showed the prize sent by McNichol— Better bed was never found.

Beveled mirror, drawers with handles; Comtorts, pillows, mattress hidden; Place for wrapper, jewels, sandals; And sleep came at once unbidden. They declared-our charming cousin— Never saw she things so splendid. Folding beds we sold a dozen. Ere the first month's trial ended. Who could help admiring such elegant and uss sleeces of furnituie, when space becomes no valua a small chambers. Every bed-room seems a part and no bed is more sururious. NEW YORK, May 25 .- Edward E. Rice the manager, passed another comfortable night in Ludlow street jail, and was feeling so well the circumstances of his incarceration as the base of trouble has been the interestate commerce bill. The heavy expenses for the transportation of baggage has absorbed all the profits of the enterprises I have been engaged in. Almost every manager in America has protested against the high rates. A meeting to discuss the subject has already been called for May 27, at the Madison Square Theater, and will be largely attended. Col. Ingersoll and ex. Judge Dittenhoeser have also been engaged to look after the interests of the managers at Washington. I expect to give ball this afternoon, A. M. Palmer and T. H. NEW YORK, May 25 .- Special telegrams to radsfreet's show that the movement of genemi merchandise throughout the country remains of moderate proportions. At most of the cities reporting it is unchanged since last week. At Cincinnati there is a moderate improvement reported, but at St. Louis, Cleveland and other points there has been a visible check in several lines. The country movement at interior towns is lighter in many cases owing to farmers being too busy to trade. The spring trade as a whole has not equaled expectations. The drouth is broken in Kentucky and Texas, but is doing damage from Georgia to Louisiana. In the latter State cane and rice are reported to be seriously damaged. Cotton there has not been hurt yet, but without rain soon must stifer. Unconfirmed rumors have had wide circulation that English or other foreign capitalists have been negotiating for American flour mills and distilieries as well as breweries. The advance of anthacite coul prices at New York is generally criticised as unwarranted. Pig iron is quiet. Southern brands are selling at low flgures East and West. Stock speculation shows increasing activity and strength. Notable advances are recorded in the granger shares, based on the encouraging or prospects and increasing railroad earnings in the West. Bonds are strong and investments in active demand. Money at New York has been easy at 2242 per cent on cail. On Friday about $5,600,000 in gold was engaged for shipment to Europe, but without much effect on either the money or stock markets. Foreign exchange is firm and high, with demand sterling $4.8944.8944. Gross earnings of seventy-nine railroad companies for second week of May are reported at $4.804.21, against $4.106,142 last year, an increase of 6.3 per tent. In flour the demand has been light and production and offerings quite free, resulting in a lower range of prices. Wheat is off $4.046, notwithstanding fairly active trading and increased export buying, mostly for France and Portugal. Indian corn prices have not changed much, but have fluctuated considerably on active trading in the near deliveries. May is $6.0 ff on the week. The interior movement is neavy. Oats are off $160. Trading in hog products is lighter. Lard is weaker, as are shoulders and pickled bellies. Raw sugar leaves off $60 higher than last, on stronger cables and increased firmness of holders, who prefer to wait until refiners need their stocks at the higher quotation rather than sell at prices offered. Cuban stocks of raw are held $4.000 to perators, who are not eager to sealing. COMMERCIAL. Closng Prices-1:15 P. M. by speculative operators, who are not eager to realize. The statistical position of sugar is strong, as Continental authorities estimate the beet crop at only 5@10 per cent over last year's. Refined closes steady, with a better demand. demand. Trade in coffee, both speculative and for distribution, has been quite light at home and abroad. Brazilian markets are easier. Teas have about held their own, except tolongs, which are depressed. The dry goods trade at New York is reasonably quiet and Boston jobbers are less act-OATS. The dry goods trade at New York is reasonably quiet and Boston jobbers are less active, partly owing to unfavorable weather. Prices as a whole are firm and unchanged. Sight price concessions in bleached goods have been recovered by agents. The position of colored cottons has been strengthened by the sale at auction of 10,000 cases of these goods at New York at prices 7½ per cent on an average lower than agents 'prices. The result of this sale is regarded as satisfactory, as is also a large trade sale of clothing. Additional heavy trade or auction sales of finnnels and clothing at New York will soon be held. AMONG THE BROKERS. A Dull Market-Stocks Sold and Prices Ob

Sales on the Mining Exchange this morning were light and there was no great change in prices chronicled. It was noticed that the stocks dealt in were sold at a higher figure than yesterday's bids, while other quotations were generally lower.

Silver Age touched its highest point, being offered at $4.45 and bid $4.05, with no sales. The cause of the advance was generally ascribed to reports that the mine had a large surplus on hand and that a dividend of 15 cents a share would be declared by July 12. There was no official confirmation of this rumor, but many give it credence.

PLUCK AND COURAGE

Displayed by a West Philadelphia Girl in s Serious Accident.

By Telegraph to the Post-Disparch.
PHILADELPHIA, Pa., May 25.—Edward Brady, a lawyer of West Philadelphia, has a daughter who has no equal for pluck and courage. After having been precipitated down a thirtyfoot embankment in the dark at Berwin Thursday night to the track of the Pennsylvanta Railroad, her body pinned to the ties by the debris of a wrecked phaeton and a struggling horse, so that she could not move, she lay there while the Western express came thundering on, not knowing whether she would be killed or not, and never fainted. Fortunately, her head was nearly six inches from the rail. She telt the scalding heat of the fire chamber as the engine dashed by, but smiled when she was released and wanted to clamber up the bank herself. Miss Brady and H. F. Ward started. Thursday morning for a twenty-five mile drive to West Chester and thereabouts. Mr. Ward is a photographer and went out to obtain some landscapes. Just after dark they started for home by way of Paola and Lancaster Pike. Before reaching Berwin Station, the road turns abruptly to the right at a clump of bushes. Ward got out and went to the horse's head, but the animal began to back toward the embankment. Ward ran to the pheton and tried to reseue Miss Brady, but it was too late. George W. Johnson and his brother William, who live on the other side of the embankment, came rushing down and across the track, bringing a lantern. Suddenly from Philadelphia came the rumble of the express train. One of the Johnsons seized the lantern and sprinted down the track just as the headilght gleamed around the curve. He waved the light frantically. The engineer saw there was trouble and put on the brakes. Mr. Ward called to Miss Brady and asked if she could move herself and she answered "No." A neighbor who had joined the party added more deepair by crying: "My God, the girl will be killed!" Then the two men sprang to one side, the train crame to a stop just before the last two cars reached the debris. Mr. Ward, by this time frantic, sprang forward, expecting to see her beheaded. Before he could reach her he heard ber voice say she was all right. She had never lost her nerve while the hot breath of the engine snorted in her face and tore away the phaeton and horse from on top of her. Miss Brady was easily extricated how, and although her vania Railroad, her body pinned to the ties by the debris of a wrecked phaeton and a strug-miles seperating those points the Western roads insist upon a greater amount of compensation than is demanded for transporting the regiment over the 912 miles intervening between New York and the Lake City. While Col. Austin's figures disclose resources ample to meet these demands, allowing $20 an individual for 600 men, the commandant of the Thirteenth does not fest disposed to submit quietly to an imposition. Two plans are accordingly under consideration in lieu of the Minneapolis trip. The first of these proposes an excursion to Cleveland by rail, returning by way of the lakes to Buffalo; the second, a journey to Niagara Falis and Buffalo, and thence across Lake Ontario to Toronto and other points of interest in the Dominion of Canada. Should the Cleveland excursion be determined upon, it is proposed to send forward a challenge to the National Guard of Ohio to shoot a regimental team rife. roads insist upon a greater amount of com Guard of Obio to shoot a regimental team rifle match during the stay of the Thirteenth in that city.

Designer Edward Burgess, who has just returned from New York, was asked for his opinion of yesterday's race: "From what has so far appeared," said he, "there is no doubt that the Valkyrie is a fast boat. Just how speedy she is it is impossible to determine from yesterday's race. It looks as though she was a good light-weather boat, but even that cannot

Gen. Payne also has a good opinion of the Valkyrie, and, while quite confident that an American yacht can best her, he is not disposed to discount the Valkyrie's power. The fact that the English cutter's top sides "tumble home," thus insuring her more power, is regarded as a sign that Englishmen have learned a thing or two about building yachts from Uncle Sam. Everybody here considers the Valkyrie much superior to the last cup challenger.

Bicycle Races Postponed.

The bicycle races announced for this afternoon have been postponed until Monday at 4 p. m. Mr. Gordon of Chicago, representing Mr. Lumsden, arrived in the city this morning and agreed to a postponement of the race with Stone, so that the entire programme announced for to-day will be given on Monday afternoon. The recent rains rendered the track so heavy that the racing would have been very poor and the outlook for this morning was for rain all day.

Diseases Cured by Cuticura Remedies When Hot Springs, Doctors and All Other Medicines Fail. All Other Medicines Fail.

Having been a sufferer for two years and a half from a disease caused by a bruise on the log, and having been cured by the CUTICURA REMEDIES when all other methods and remedies failed, I deem it my duty to recommend them. I visited hot springs to no avail, and tried several dootors without success, and at last our principal druggist, Mr. John P. Finlay (to whom I shall ever feel grateful) spoke to me about CUTICURA and I consented to give them a trial, with the result that I am perfectly cured. There is now no sore about me. I think I can show the largest surface where my sufferings sprang from of any one in the State. The CUTICURA REMEDIES are the best blood and skin cures manufactured. I refer to druggist John P. Finlay and Dr. D. C. Montgomery, both of this place, and to Dr. Smith of Lake Lee, Miss.

ALEXANDER BEACH, Greenville, Miss.

Mr. Beach used the CUTICURA REMEDIES at our request with results as above stated.

Scrofula 7 years cured.

I have been troubled with scrofula seven years, which first started on the top of my head, giving me infinite trouble, with constant itchins, casting off of dry scales, and a watery liquid exuded from under the scales. I treated it for seven years unsuccessfully, and was unable to check it until I found your Curicus. Remedies. One box Curicus, one cake Curicus Soap and one bottle Curicus Soap and one bottle Curicus Soap and perfectly clear and smooth.
